Charles Boardman Hogue (some family sources say his middle name was Boden), was born in Union Co. Arkansas on November 25, 1846. He was a son of James Maderson Hogue (1809-1869) and Margaret (Hines) Hogue (1826-1905). Margaret Hogue eventually came to Tarrant County and is buried at White's Chapel Cemetery in present-day Southlake. Descendants have posted a great deal of information on Mr. Hogue and his family at Ancestry.com.

Hogue served in Co. K, 19th Arkansas Infantry, and was surrendered in May, 1865 in Camden, Arkansas. He moved to Texas in the fall of 1865, and settled in Tarrant County in 1870.

Hogue married Angeline Victoria Rourk in Tarrant County, Texas on December 26, 1877 (some sources say 1877). Charles B. Hogue's home appears on the 1895 Sam Street Map of Tarrant County. In modern-day terms, his home was in present-day northwestern Southlake about where Maranatha Way and Brown Drive intersect Randol Mill Road.

When the 1910 census was taken, Mrs. Hogue said she had given birth to seven children, five of whom were still living.

Charles B. Hogue died December 3, 1926, and lies buried in White's Chapel Cemetery. Mrs. Hogue died July 20, 1928, and was buried beside him. No copies of the issue of the Grapevine Sun have survived in which Mr. Hogue's obituary might have been printed. No obituary for Mrs. Hogue appeared in the next issue of that paper printed after her death. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hogue were pensioned by the State of Texas for his service.

A list of the Hogue children as presented by descendants at ancestry.com includes: Florence H. Hogue (1878-1883); James I. Hogue (1880-1900); Pappa Hogue (1882-1959, married Nancy Alice Martin); Luther Marvin Hogue (1885-1936, who married Mary Melton); William Patrick Hogue (1887-1961, who married Mary Clark); Jerry S. Hogue (1889-1967, who married Myrtle E. Clark); and Henry Clinton Hogue (1892-1931). This list agrees exactly with the statement Mrs. Hogue made to the census taker in 1910.
